ENT for Children is a pediatric otolaryngology in Paramus, NJ focused on head and neck surgery and treatment of disorders of the ear, nose, and throat. Our goal is to provide the best possible care for a child and their family and to ensure a positive outcome. We also conduct research to improve patient outcomes. Our satisfied patients are primarily from Bergen County, New Jersey, New York City, and the NYC Metro area. We offer a comprehensive hearing aid program for adults and children with certain types of hearing loss. Our skilled audiologists have extensive expertise dispensing all different makes and models of hearing aids. We also have a complete cochlear implant program for adult and pediatric patients. For children with complex airway or breathing problems, we can perform a thorough airway evaluation and provide a complete treatment solution which includes pulmonologists, speech pathologists, respiratory therapists, and other medical professionals as dictated by the patient's specific needs. We treat a wide variety of ear, nose, and throat disorders. These range from treating adenoiditis by way of an adenoidectomy to treating or managing stridor, allergies, sinusitis, sports injuries, and more. We perform nasal surgery, sinus surgery, and reconstructive facial surgery, and a large variety of other treatments for whatever ear, nose, or throat disorder your children may have. Pediatric ENT
